Work Force Trends

Population

Since 2001 Jefferson County's population has steadily increased. Between 2001 and 2011 Jefferson County was the fourth fastest growing county in the state. The county is part of the Idaho Falls Metropolitan Statistical Area and sits between the high-growth counties of Bonneville and Madison, which affects Jefferson since it gets their overflow. A depressed housing market has slowed recent population growth.

Many new residential subdivisions and commercial developments have been added, and the county is trying to stay abreast of infrastructure issues. Many businesses have expanded to meet the needs of this growing county.

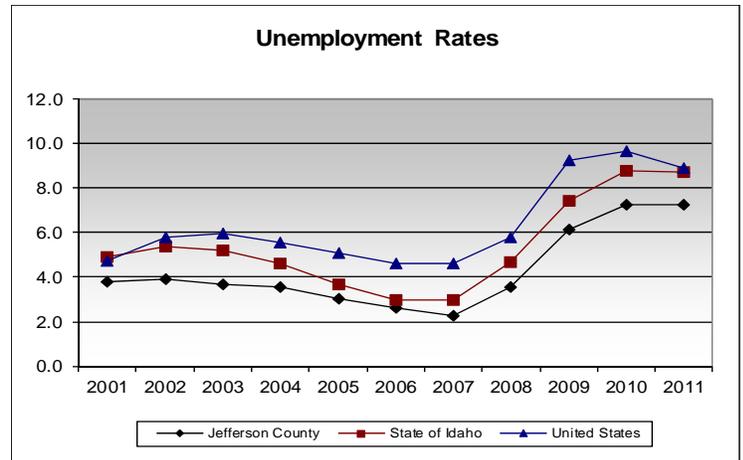

Labor Force & Employment

Jefferson County's unemployment rate remained comparatively low between 2001 and 2011 and has stayed below the state and national rates during the last decade. The 2011 unemployment rate was 7.2 percent, the highest since 1987. Many residents commute to Madison or Bonneville counties, where growth has been substantial. The labor force grew 2,724, almost 30 percent, during the decade. Employment has grown almost 25 percent over the decade.

U.S. Highway 20 is a gateway for tourists heading to Island Park and Yellowstone National Park, and the county wants to take advantage of that traffic. The Riot Zone, which features recreational activities for the whole family, is situated next to Rigby Lake, which offers picnic sites, day use and swimming. U.S. Highway 26 also attracts tourists traveling to the Targhee National Forest, various ski resorts and Jackson Hole, Wyo.

Government, trade, manufacturing and construction are the largest industries with government and trade providing half of the jobs. The Department of Transportation, local officials and several school districts account for government jobs while two of the area's large potato fresh-pack plants employ many in wholesale trade. Most of the manufacturing jobs are at the two large potato processing plants, Idahoan Foods and Idaho Pacific. Grain, corn and potatoes are produced in the county.

The county's claim to fame is the city of Rigby, the home of the inventor of television, Philo Farnsworth.

Nonfarm Payroll Jobs for 2011

Covered Employers

Jefferson County's covered employment increased 7 percent from 2001 to 2011. Total employment decreased slightly between 2010 and 2011, led by large declines in agriculture. Leisure and hospitality employment has shown significant growth – almost 63 percent over the decade. Commercial and residential developments slowed due to struggling housing markets and the credit crisis. The average annual wage did experience a slight increase despite the overall decrease in employment.

Covered employment includes jobs subject to state and federal unemployment insurance laws. These laws apply to approximately 92 percent of Idaho's employers.
